DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5, 6, 8-10 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Carr (US Patent No. 3,371,729).

Carr discloses a downhole tool comprising tubular body U connected to work string C; sleeve S mounted around body having stabilizer blades V in a helical formation; jetting ports 76 directing fluid out against the wellbore; actuating means 17 to selectively direct fluid through jetting ports 76. Actuating means 17 is operated by the weight of string C to cover or open ports 76. Blades V have portions parallel to the bore where the ports are disposed (Fig. 6), nozzles 70 located inwards of an outside surface of blades V, and “also serve as reamers to clean the wellbore” (col. 2, lines 10-11).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Carr (US Patent No. 3,371,729) in view of Wood (US Patent No. 6,474,423).

Carr discloses all of the limitations of the above claims with the exception of triangular flow-by grooves. Wood discloses a stabilizer for a drill bit comprising body 1, axial flow bore 9, helical stabilizers 2; and jetting nozzles 5. Helical stabilizers 2 include wear resistant inserts 3 that act as milling surfaces as the body 1 rotates. In reference to claim 7, between stabilizers 2 there are contoured areas 4 that are triangular flow-by grooves. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to include helical blades with jetting ports on the tool of Carr in view of Wood to provide a more efficient flow path.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 4 and 11 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
